

Carlo Alberto Beretta is appointed chief client & marketing officer of Kering

∞ Kering creates the position of chief client and marketing officer and appoints Carlo Alberto Beretta

Kering announces the appointment of Carlo Alberto Beretta in the newly created position of chief client & marketing officer of the Group, effective 4 October 2016. He will report directly to François-Henri Pinault, chairman and CEO of Kering, and will remain a member of Kering's executive committee.

In an increasingly competitive business environment, the focus on customers has become critical to the success of luxury brands. Providing a rewarding and consistent experience across all channels, together with an enhanced relationship with the clients themselves, is required to optimise their satisfaction and build loyalty.

In this context, Kering is creating the new function of chief client & marketing officer and appointing Carlo Alberto Beretta in this position. His outstanding expertise in the luxury industry and experience in managing one of the main brands of the Group, Bottega Veneta, notably laying the foundations of a multi-category approach, made him an obvious choice.

His responsibilities as Kering's chief client & marketing officer will include monitoring the long-term brands' equity of Kering portfolio; building a comprehensive, measurable and profitable customer culture for each Kering brand and as a Group and accelerating omni-channel distribution across the Group.

François-Henri Pinault, chairman and CEO of Kering, commented: "I wanted to give our maisons exceptional support and expertise in what is their main challenge in the years to come: the ability to meet their customers' needs and fulfil their desires. I am therefore happy to appoint Carlo Alberto Beretta, who has demonstrated the qualities required to realise our ambitious customer strategy."
